WHEN VACATION TIME COMES

it's mighty handy to have a savings bank account to provide the funds for your outing. Much better than going without lunch for weeks ahead or borrowing from friends.

THE LAS VEGAS SAVINGS BANK

suggests that you prepare for next year's vacation by commencing to save now. Keep at it steadily and next summer will see you better off financially than ever before.

Power in Silence.

Here is a hint for the women who forget and fret and fuss. Go into the silence at certain times of the day. One need not necessarily retire for formal prayer. "He who is in the path of duty needs no prayer," said a wise oriental. But in the silence you will find the peace and strength of prayer. In withdrawing from the pressure of things and getting in touch with the great sources of power, you will absorb power.—Edwin Markham, in Red Book.

Scale of Homicidal Values.

One railroad president equals two ordinary magnates; one ordinary magnate equals three captains of industry; one captain of industry equals six theater managers; one theater manager equals 300 theatergoers; one theatergoer equals 400 railway passengers; one railway passenger equals 800 employees; one employee equals 2,000 miners; one miner equals 5,000,000 sweatshop workers.

Currency Hard to Carry.

In California one rarely sees a bank note. The money in circulation is all gold and silver. It is common to see a collector walking along the street with a bag of gold on his back. Curiously, the very weight of the money—one person can hardly carry more than $40,000 in gold—often acts as a deterrent feature in embezzlement.

Man's By-Products.

There is enough hydrogen gas in a man, says the Medical Index Lancet, to carry him up to the clouds. He contains enough fat to make 75 candles and a large cake of soap, and enough phosphorus to make 8,664 boxes of matches. His remaining constituents will yield, if utilized, six cruets of salt, a bowl of sugar and ten gallons of water.

English Pica for Cities Beautiful.

What England wants just now is a man, or several men, of infinite ability and ample means, who, purely for the sake of their art alone, will prepare imaginary schemes showing how and in what way our cities ought to grow if they are to be healthy dwelling places and beauty spots instead of blots upon our land.—English Building News.

Help for Those Who Have Stomach Trouble.

After doctoring for about twelve years for a bad stomach trouble, and spending nearly five hundred dollars for medicine and doctors' fees, I purchased my wife one box of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets, which did her so much good that she continued to use them and they have done her more good than all of the medicine I bought before. Samuel Boyer, Folsom, Iowa. This medicine is for sale by all dealers. Samples free.

Plea for Open Fireplace.

"If people would only learn to have open fires in their rooms, instead of converting them into hot-air boxes by means of furnaces, there would be fewer colds," said a physician. "Fireplaces and their chimneys are ventilators. To me the beauty of an open fire makes it worth having, but when you consider that it's a sanitary officer, constantly changing the air and driving out germs, it is hard to see how any one can prefer a furnace."

Cure for Toothache.

A London physician at a meeting of a medical society stated that extraction of teeth was unnecessary. He was enabled to cure the most desperate case of toothache, he said, unless the case was connected with rheumatism, by the application of the following remedy to the diseased tooth: Alum, reduced to an impalpable powder, two drachms; nitrous spirits of ether, seven drachms; mix and apply to tooth.

On the Half Shell in Alaska.

Up in Alaska the nearest approach they have to the oyster is the sea urchin. The redskins up there love the brutes. They catch them all day long, crunch them in their fists, gulp down the orange-colored cluster of eggs and fling the thorny shell back into the ocean. Sea urchins have been the chief delicacy of Alaskan Indians since time out of mind, and it shows what will go in a pinch.

He Approved.

Three-year-old Tim had admired the clouds for a long time, but never thought to inquire into their origin until a few evenings since. His mother explained at length how God made the rain fall on the earth and then took it back into the sky, to all of which Tim listened attentively, and then patronizingly observed: "Pretty good stunt for Dad, isn't it?"—Harper's Magazine.

Early Showed Greatness.

Andrew Jackson was a marvel of precocity. He carried a flintlock musket, as a soldier of the revolutionary army, at the age of 14. At 23 he was appointed by Washington district attorney of Tennessee. He was a United States senator at 30. He did not reach the presidency until he was 62.—Sunday Magazine.

One of Fashion's Follies.

A lady came on an odd-looking bag the other day in one of the fashionable London shops. It was in expensive leather, and seemed too large for an ordinary hand-bag; also it had a curious opening cut at one side towards the top. "Ladies use it for carrying their little dogs," the salesman explained.

Dressed as Scholars.

At the wedding lately of the head master of Eastbourne college, England, the threepages in the bridal procession were garbed as scholars in black satin knee breeches, buckled shoes, scarlet silk gowns, with white shirt fronts. Each carried a mortarboard hat and a scarlet-bound prayer book.

The Poor Widower.

A young woman in New York eloped with a gentleman and was greatly surprised to find that she had become the stepmother of nine children by that act. Therefore, she deserted her new husband. Is there no romance possible for a widower with children?
